

SPICE research cluster offline for maintenance Tues Jan 13

One of the high performance computing (HPC) clusters will be offline for maintenance to replace a battery at 10AM on Tuesday, January 13. The research groups and customers who utilize SPICE (Shared Pool of Integrated Computing Environments) have already been notified. The cluster should be returned to service shortly after lunch. Updates will be posted online: <http://it.rice.edu>.