

Email system functional again

The Rice email system is once again functional regarding webmail and non-webmail login inconsistencies. We will continue to research the issue and updates will be posted to the IT web site.